RESEARCH INTEREST

AI emerges not only for music but also from it. My research interest lies in self-supervised learning and interpretable representation learning, as well as their applications in audio and music. The core of my research is inspired by the hierarchical nature of human perception, thinking, and communication, with music as their most intriguing manifestation. Building on this, I am dedicated to researching AI that more closely resembles human intelligence, enhancing both AI systems' effectiveness and human artistry.
